

RICHMOND MUNICIPAL NATATORIUM (THE PLUNGE)

RICHMOND MUNICIPAL NATATORIUM (THE PLUNGE)

- The Richmond Municipal Plunge (1925) is of a classical revival style with a symmetrical main façade decorated by arched window openings at the first floor and paired windows flanked by low relief double pilasters at the second floor. The building's construction and massing are similar to factory buildings of the era - single large gable roofed volume with a central monitor roof and clerestory windows supported by a light weight steel structure. The Natatorium contains a single large pool (160 ft. by 60 ft.) flanked by first floor dressing rooms at the east and west sides.
- The Richmond Municipal Plunge is a contributor to the Point Richmond National Register Historic District.
